

Information for persons entering Schleswig-Holstein or returning to Schleswig-Holstein from travel abroad

What must travellers consider?

It is important to check before entering the state whether you are coming from a currently designated high-risk area at the time of entry. The high-risk areas in other countries are listed on the website of the Robert Koch Institute (https://www.rki.de/DE/Content/InfAZ/N/Neuartiges_Coronavirus/Risikogebiete_neu.html).

Regulations as follows are in force since 8 November 2020:

Obligatory quarantine

Important, please read: Persons entering Schleswig-Holstein or returning to the state from high-risk areas in other countries to whom none of the exceptions (see p. 2) apply are obligated to comply with the following regulations:

Before entering the country you must register online at www.einreiseanmeldung.de. There you provide your contact information as well as details of your travels and your health status. You will then receive a confirmation document that you must carry with you when you enter the country (PDF document printout or in digital form) and must present on demand. If the digital entry registration does not function or is not feasible for you, a substitute registration in written form can be filled out using the form you can download here:

https://www.bundesgesundheitsministerium.de/fileadmin/Dateien/3_Downloads/C/Coronavirus/Infoblatt/Anlage_2_Ersatzmitteilung.pdf. This document, filled out, must then be presented on demand when you enter the country.

After entering the country:

- ➡ Proceed directly to your home or to another suitable accommodation,
- ➡ Remain under quarantine for 10 days at home or in the appropriate accommodation. During this period, you must not receive any visitors who are not members of your household,
- ➡ If you have COVID-19 symptoms during the quarantine period, report this immediately to the Public Health Office.

Possible early release from quarantine

- To shorten the ten-day quarantine requirement by a maximum of five days (so that the quarantine must in any case be complied with for a minimum of five days), you must present a negative COVID-19 test to the local Public Health Office (Gesundheitsamt).
- This test can be performed by your GP.
- The test must be performed at least 5 days after you enter the Federal Republic of Germany. It is permissible to leave quarantine accommodations to take the test.
- For this purpose you should undergo a SARS-CoV-2 rapid antigen test. A positive result from this test is then rechecked by undergoing a PCR test.
- You must keep the test results for 10 days and provide them to the local Public Health Office on demand.
- Important: The quarantine obligation remains in force until the test result is available. In addition to this, you are obligated to contact the local Public Health Office after leaving quarantine if you experience SARS-CoV-2-infection symptoms during a period of 10 days after entering the country. For further information and contact data details for local Public Health Offices go to: www.schleswig-holstein.de/coronavirus-einreise
- Persons returning from travels abroad are not automatically entitled to receive testing. Tests that are considered medically necessary or have been ordered by the Public Health Office will be given priority.

Fines as follows may be imposed if these protective measures are violated:

1) You are not subject to the quarantine obligation and do not require a negative SARS-CoV-2 test upon entering the state, if you...

- ...are merely in transit through Schleswig-Holstein; in this case, you must leave the state by a direct route.
